

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS ix

INTRODUCTION xi

- 1 Why Give Him a Sign Which Hearing People Do Not Understand . . . ?
Public Discourses about Deafness, 1780–1914
Anja Werner 1
- 2 “Enlightened Selfishness”: Gallaudet College and Deaf
Citizenship in the United States, 1864–1904
Joseph J. Murray 18
- 3 Citizenship and Education: The Case of the Black Deaf Community
Carolyn McCaskill, Ceil Lucas, Robert Bayley, and Joseph Hill 40
- 4 From Deaf Autonomy to Parent Autonomy in the Chicago
Public Day Schools, 1874–1920
Motoko Kimura 61
- 5 Are We Not as Much Citizens As Anybody? Alice Taylor Terry and Deaf Citizenship in the Early Twentieth Century
Kati Morton Mitchell 90
- 6 Unchurched, Unchampioned, and Undone: The St. Ann’s
Church Controversy, 1894–1897
Jannelle Legg 105
- 7 In Pursuit of Citizenship: Campaigns Against Peddling in Deaf America, 1880s–1950s
Octavian Robinson 127
- 8 Revisiting Memoir Upon the Formation of a Deaf Variety of the Human Race: Alexander Graham Bell and Deaf Autonomy
Brian H. Greenwald 149

- 9 Compromising for Agency: The Role of the NAD during the American Eugenics Movement, 1880–1940
Melissa Malzkuhn 171
- 10 Normalization and Abnormal Genes: Hereditary Deafness Research at the Clarke School for the Deaf, 1930–1950
Marion Andrea Schmidt 193
- 11 The “Breakaways”: Deaf Citizens’ Groups in Australia in the 1920s and 1930s
Breda Carty 211
- 12 Divine and Secular: Reverend Robert Capers Fletcher and the Southern Deaf Community, 1931–1972
Jean Lindquist Bergey 239
- CONTRIBUTORS 258
- INDEX 261